

Unique celebration planned for Cinco de Mayo

By Brenna Merry

In America, we pride ourselves on the diversity and acceptance that lives within our country. We celebrate a variety of holidays of numerous cultures and religions right here in our own country. Not only in our country, but also in our own G. Ray Bodley!

Now that Easter has passed, it seems as though it will be months until another holiday approaches. However, that is most certainly not the case. On May 8 students will be able to celebrate "El Ocho de Mayo!" Since the fifth of May falls on a Saturday, the eighth was the easiest compensation for this "fiesta."

Cinco de Mayo is a Mexican celebration where people remember Mexico's unlikely victory against the French at the Battle of Puebla. Most consider the day as a time to celebrate Mexican heritage and pride. Many confuse Cinco de Mayo with the Mexican Independence Day, but it is not! Mexico's Independence Day is actually September 16.

Cinco de Mayo is not a federal holiday in Mexico and is celebrated only voluntarily. G. Ray Bodley High School is voluntarily celebrating this holiday on May 8 at the Oswego BOCES. For a $10 admission students will be able to feast on delicious food from the local "Azteca" restaurant in Oswego, not to mention participate in a variety of Mexican games, dances, etc.

America is a land of many shapes, colors and sizes and we show our support for this diversity through a celebration of any and all cultures. On el Cinco de Mayo, be sure to take time to appreciate history and only three days later celebrate with priceless fun. Not only is it a good way to spend your time, but also, all proceeds go toward the migrant workers. America, a place of beauty, equality and freedom.

F RaiderNet Daily F

G. Ray Bodley High School, Fulton, NY

Volume 1, Number 123

Thursday, April 15, 2010

Bodley's Best vs. Coaches for Cancer set for April 29

By Jake Tallents

The students of G. Ray Bodley and the Fulton community at large are being asked for their assistance. It is a difficult time for three different Bodley families, the names of which may or may not want to be revealed, as three different Bodley students have been diagnosed with cancer. It is hard to believe that such a travesty can strike three different people in one school district. It is time for the Raiders to join together and support the families in any way possible.

Thursday, April 29, Fulton has the chance to join together and support these families in their tough time. G. Ray Bodley's own version of Bodley's Best; Coaches vs. Cancer will be on the board at 7 pm Thursday night in the GRB high school gymnasium, and it is going to be a night jam-packed with action as the best athletes from the high school take on the coaches they compete with.

Leading off the night will be all-CNY point guard Max Ambuske as he takes on his very own Coach Kent in a three-point competition. The rest of the night will include a baseball pitch velocity contest, featuring senior Josh Collins vs. former division one pitcher and English teacher Mr. Heindorf.

All-league quarterback Brett Williams will take on Coach Halladay in a football throw accuracy contest. Muscular Mat Shoults will take on the amazing Coach Fasulo in a bench-press competition. The night will be finished off with sectional place winner Jake Tallents vs. former Phoenix Firebird, Mr. Jeffrey Waldron. Hosted by English teacher Mr. Senecal, this night will surely be one to remember for all.

This will be a great fundraiser for the families involved, as 100% of the money will be donated to the wing at Golisano children's hospital where all three students are being treated. An additional fundraiser people can participate in will be to predict the outcome of the various events. For a dollar, they can write their name on a piece of paper and put it in the jar designating who they think will win each individual competition. Winners will have their names put into the next week's edition of The Raider. So every student should clear his or her calendar for that Thursday, April 29 as G. Ray Bodley looks to fight back against the disease that afflicts three of her students.

The long wait is over!
Tonight's the night for...

Bodley's Got T★LENT

GRB auditorium,
7 p.m.
$3 minimum donation

D.J. Ingham, right, and Ryan Shue will showcase one of the more unique acts at tonight's talent show.

Opinion

Hypochondria: more than crying 'wolf'

By Alicia Vann

"Quit being a hypochondriac!" I am sure many of you have heard this at one point or another. However, a hypochondriac is not just a person who exaggerates about their physical state, but hypochondria is an actual mental disorder that many people suffer from.

Hypochondria is defined as a mental disorder where the sufferer believes that they are suffering from medical illness, whether real or imagined. Hypochondriacs also believe that their symptoms are attributes of serious medical conditions. These symptoms can lead to bigger issues such as depression and severe anxiety.

Many hypochondriacs tend to follow a certain pattern. The sufferer starts to have a fear toward a certain illness. This fear grows out of proportional reasoning. Hypochondriacs do not tend to listen to the expert advice given by doctors.

The causes of hypochondria are far and few. There is really no primary cause of hypochondria, because it occurs equally in both men and women.

A diagnosis is also limited. Those who are suffering from hypochondria can get a physical evaluation proving that they really do not have the illness they are stressing over. A psychological evaluation is also available to help rule out other similar disorders. Even after these evaluations, a hypochondriac could still be stressing over their "disease." Anxiety drugs are also available for hypochondriacs to take.

Treatment is available, but not always effective. Having a close relationship with a health care provider is important. Putting your trust in the words of a trained professional can prove to be just the treatment a hypochondriac needs.

However there are complications that come along with this disorder. It all goes back to the old Aesop's fable, "The Boy who cried Wolf." The boy would yell wolf when he thought there was a wolf around and the whole town would arrive. When there wasn't, the town would be angry with the young boy. The minute there actually was a wolf; the town did not come, for they thought the boy was just lying. This proves true for hypochondriacs. They could be really suffering from a disease and the doctor won't believe them due to their past accusations.

"Many hypochondriacs tend to follow a certain pattern. The sufferer starts to have a fear toward a certain illness. This fear grows out of proportional reasoning. Hypochondriacs do not tend to listen to the expert advice given by doctors."

Another complication could be dependence on a sedative or pain-killer. After taking so many meds for 'diseases', this could easily lead to an addiction.

Loss of money is another opportunity cost suffered by hypochondriacs. They do not just lose money from paying for countless doctor's appointments and treatments. They also lose time that could be spent working by attending all these appointments.

Although it may seem like a joke, Hypochondria is a real-life mental disorder. So next time a friend complains about a headache or back pain, take a step back to look at the full picture. If the complaints keep on rolling, maybe having a sit down conversation with your friend about the mental condition is the best way to go. Just food for thought.

So you want to be a reality television star?

By Lindsay Navagh

Have you ever wanted to be famous? Taste the sweet feeling of somebody recognizing you? Anyone can get his or her time in the spotlight, and as Andy Warhol once said "In the future, everybody will be world famous for 15 minutes." When channel surfing, there are reality shows on almost every channel in broadcast. You watch people you don't even know doing crazy and weird things to catch your attention. Have you ever pictured yourself doing these things? Or maybe you've always wanted to! Well, my friends, I have your solution. Taking tips from an 11-step process can put you in that spotlight you have always dreamed of.

First, you must realize why exactly you would like to be a reality star. Could it be the fame, money, or the recognition? If so you should probably also ask yourself how many reality stars you can actually remember? Do you remember the people on the earlier seasons of any of the shows you watch? Just take it into consideration that all the fame sometimes dies after the following season begins.

Also when reaching for fame, make sure that your willing to give up certain rights. These rights include your privacy. Your life will be consumed with cameras and people talking about you, so you had better be ready for it. Next, expect to be a pawn in production. Reality shows can be and mostly are pretty far from reality. Reality shows manipulate events as they happen, only showing what they believe is interesting and attention grabbing.

For the star, this can be some of their worst moments. People will only see you as the producers want you to be perceived. But if this doesn't stop you, if you know this is exactly what you want, the next step will start you on your way. Personality is very important in striving for fame, and the more outgoing you are the better. Creators of the show want its stars to be crazy and entertaining.

One of the most important tasks to being in a reality show is your audition. In most major cities they have open casting calls for people who want to be on reality television. The crazier you are the better chance you have of being cast. The producers want conflict, so bold personalities are wanted. Also either stereotypical or mold breaking people are the ones being cast. People are more interested in the typical guy or girl. But even more people are interested in the people who are breaking those molds in extremes, for instance, the religious girl who isn't afraid to swear on national television. Unique points of views are always wanted. If your life has been different from the normal fam-

(continued on page 3)

Mock Trial concludes season

The Mock Trial season came to a close last Saturday, April 10th, at regionals in Utica, with Fulton having a great season. The teams at regionals included Broome County, Chemung County, Chenango County, Oneida County, Onondaga County, Oswego County, and Tompkins County. Broome County's team, Vestal High School, won the regional competition, while Onondaga's Team, Manlius-Pebble Hill High School, took second.

Fulton's team, representing Oswego County, took fifth place with a 1-1 record for the day. The loss came from Oneida County's team from New Hartford High School, the win coming from a bye (automatic win) trail. The team toughed it out against New Hartford school, once again taking the Defensive side to the People vs. Shawn Miller case. Some of the people from Fulton recognized "friendly" faces of those they had befriended from a Model United Nations Conference earlier in the year.

The lawyers, consisting of Ryann Crofoot, Krysta Woodcock, and Kelly Ormsby, had a tough time against a very experienced team of lawyers from New Hartford. The witnesses, Christine Proud as Ryan Williams, Ryan Bastian as Mickey Penman, and Steven McDougall as Shawn Miller, faced tough cross examinations, while the lawyers had a hard time finding a break in the prosecutions' argument against Mr. Miller. The team left regionals shortly after lunch, unable to remain in the competition after losing to Oneida County by only a few points.

Fulton played a tough part in regionals this year. Showing up with both advisors out of state that day, one in Florida and one in Colorado, and without an attorney advisor all year, they were the only school there with Mock Trial being a club, and not a class. Still, the team had plenty to be proud of, having not only completed an almost perfect Mock Trial season, but also being Oswego County Champions.

By Kelly Ormsby

THIS WEEK IN RAIDER SPORTS

Today: : Baseball vs. Homer (4:30); JV baseball @ Homer (4:30); JV boys lax vs. Whitesboro (5 p.m.); V boys lax vs. Whitesboro (5 p.m.).

Fri. April 16: Tennis vs. Fowler (5 p.m.); Girls lax vs. Homer (V-4:30/JV-6 p.m.).

Tues. April 20: Boys lax @ Cortland (JV-10 a.m./V-12:15 p.m.); Girls lax vs. Cortland JV-10 a.m./V-12:30 p.m.).

Thurs. April 22: V Baseball @ Pulaski (11 a.m.)

Fri. April 23: V Baseball @ Oswego (11 a.m.); JV baseball vs. Oswego (11 a.m.); V girls lax @ Homer (1 p.m.).

Mon. April 26: Softball vs. Fowler (4:45); Baseball @ Fowler

Upcoming events:

April 12-16: Prom Dress sale @ GRB all bells.

Thursday, April 15: Bodley's Got Talent! 7 p.m. in the auditorium. Minimum $3 donation.

Friday, April 16: Student Senate Blood Drive in the LGI all day. See Mr. Thurlow ASAP to register.

Thursday, April 29: District Student Art Show @ Fourth Street Ed. Center, 6-8 p.m.

Friday, April 30: Class of 2013 dance, 7-10 p.m.

The results are finally in and seniors Ben Davis, left, and Brandon Teetsel placed second in last month's SUNY-ESF Bridge Building contest. The second place effort marks the highest ever finish for a G. Ray Bodley High School team. Fulton's tandem of Jack Howard and Ian Giovanetti placed fifth, and the trio of Josh Lindsey, Derek Southworth and manda Adamy were sixth. (Danielle Smith photo) ily or school experience, reality producers will want you on their show to tell your interesting story.

Reality TV star (from page 2)

You can also find your way to fame through other celebrities. One of the greatest chances of fame is dating a celebrity with an already existent show. Showing up on a popular reality show boosts your recognition among the viewers, giving you a better shot in starring in your show. Another big way to get on television is social networking. The more people who know you, the more interested people will be in watching your life unfold. For example, certain stars started their fame on Myspace, displaying their music as well as other things allowing the world to see.

Another big fame maker these days is the Youtube website. Many videos that are interesting and different gain popularity among their viewers, causing people to talk and recognize the very videos you and people you know have posted. If none of this helps you gain your fifteen minutes of fame, you can always gain peoples interest in you by showing interest in yourself. You can post things about yourself on different websites including Facebook or Twitter, making yourself known among the people using the websites, and gaining popularity. Remember, you are your biggest fan.

There are many different characteristics you can have to help you gain your fifteen minutes of fame. When striving for fame, make sure you know what you're getting yourself into. If "fame" is what you really want, just follow these steps and live the dream, who knows where it will take you.

GRB Photo Club Contest

Theme: SPRING

submit your entries to Mlle Amerault

contest deadline is May 7

Stanley Cup Playoffs

Stanley Cup Playoffs: the marathon has begun

Eastern Conference preview:

The 2010 Stanley Cup playoffs are finally here. After an exciting regular season, 16 of the 32 NHL teams are moving on to the post season. While the west was pretty spread out, the Eastern Conference went right down to the final games of the regular season for teams to clinch playoff spots. On Sunday the Philadelphia Flyers beat the New York Rangers in a shootout to clinch their spot in the playoffs and keep the Rangers out.

The schedule for the eight remaining Eastern teams will definitely be an entertaining one as Alexander Ovechkin and the number one seed Washington Capitals take on the eighth seeded Montreal Canadiens. The Canadiens have had somewhat of a rough year as they have struggled all season to get into a playoff spot. Never the less, they got the job done and will now be taking on the top ranked team in the league that has not only one of the best players the league has ever seen, but one of the best records the NHL has ever seen.

In the next match up, second seed New Jersey Devils go up against seventh seed Philadelphia Flyers. While New Jersey is crushing the Flyers in points, their record against Philly is not very good at all, only posting one win out of six games against them.

The next match up will surely be a good one as the Boston Bruins and the Buffalo Sabres go head to head. While the Sabres have had a much better season, the underdog, again has the better record against, winning four out of the six games against the Sabres. However, a big factor may be that in two of the four games won, the Buffalo Sabres were resting their best player, and one of the best goalies in the league, Ryan Miller.

The last match up for the east is the defending champion Pittsburgh Penguins and the Ottawa Senators. In the east, the Ottawa Senators are definitely the biggest sleeper. There has not been much talk about them all year despite the fact that they have managed to stay in about fifth place all season long and have the same record against the Penguins. Sid the Kid and his team will definitely have their work cut out for them in the first round of the 2010 Stanley Cup Playoffs.

By Zachary Froio

Western Conference preview:

The first match up in the Western Conference will be the first seeded San Jose Sharks up against eighth seeded Colorado. The Sharks, being the powerhouses of the West for the third straight year will look to dominate the best of seven game series with ease against the Avalanche. But in order to do this the Sharks will need to overcome recent history as for the past two seasons they have taken the number one overall seed, but have yet to find themselves past the first round. With newly reinforced offence (Danny Heatly adding 82 points for the team) mixed in with the Sharks already dominant attack, they will be looking to capitalize up front while relying on goalie Evgeni Nabokov to make the big saves he's been making all year. For Colorado this will be a lopsided series on paper as they squeaked into the playoffs at the end. With the little offence they have they will be relying a lot on hot goalie Craig Anderson to give the team the chances they need to win. Previously in the year the Avalanche and Sharks split the regular season series with two wins apiece, making this match up a pretty decent one given the fact that they are on opposite ends of seeding.

The next match-up will be second seeded young Chicago Blackhawks and number seven seeded Nashville Predators. Chicago Blackhawks' offensive talent is enough to arguably win them the Stanley Cup, but when you look at their downside, the goaltending and experience could be the deciding factor. Young guns Towe and Kane will have to step up to the plate and take control of the series quickly for a run at the Cup. The Predators are lacking in offensive talent with their team leader at only 51 points and their top goalie with only 32 wins, so inexperience will slowly creep at the Predators, allowing the young talent of Chicago to blow past what Nashville is lacking, like in regular season as the Blackhawks took four of their six meetings.

Third seed Vancouver will face sixth seed Los Angeles in a west coast match-up. The Canucks have everything needed for a well-rounded

While New Jersey is crushing the Flyers in points, their record against Philly is not very good at all, only posting one win out of six games against them.

The Canucks have everything needed for a well-rounded team with the league leader in points in Henrik Sedin with a total of 112 points and gold medal goalie Roberto Loungo to backstop them.

team with the league leader in points in Henrik Sedin with a total of 112 points and gold medal goalie Roberto Loungo to backstop them. The Los Angeles kings, despite the lack of playoff experience and with little respect from the media, are the sleeper of the West. And with their goalie situation figured out, a solid Los Angeles may give Vancouver a run for their money.

The last match up for the west will be the fourth-seeded Phoenix Coyotes against the fifth-seed Detroit Red Wings. For Phoenix, the weapon is goaltending, as Ilya Bryzgalov. Ilya posted over 40 wins this season with eight shutouts. A staunch defense is certainly Phoenix's game plan to stop the red hot Wings. Despite their low seed this year the defending Western Conference champions from Detroit are now 100% healthy and ready to blast through the first few rounds with ease with an offence that will be tough to stop, led by Russian superstar Pavel Datsyuk, the Ovechkin of the west. This will be a match up of defense against offence.

By Ryan Kesterke

Our peerless predictions for the Stanley Cup

Zach Froio

Ryan Kesterke

Pat Olvecky

Mr. Senecal

Eastern Conference

Caps vs. Canadiens	Washington 4-1	Washington 4-1	Capitals in four	Capitals in six
Devils vs. Flyers	Devils 4-2	New Jersey 4-2	Devils in five	Flyers in seven
Sabres vs. Bruins	Sabres 4-3	Buffalo 4-3	Sabres in four	Sabres in six
Pens vs. Senators	Senators 4-3	Ottawa 4-3	Senators in six	Penguins in six

Western Conference

Sharks vs. Avs	Sharks 4-2	San Jose 4-2	Sharks in four	Sharks in seven
Hawks vs. Preds	Blackhawks 4-2	Chicago 4-1	Hawks in five	Hawks in six
Canucks vs. Kings	Canucks: 4-3	Vancouver 4-2	Canucks in five	Kings in six
Wings vs. Coyotes	Red Wings 4-1	Detroit 4-1	Wings in five	Wings in five

Mexico outlasts Fulton 6-5

Victory remained elusive for the Fulton baseball team on Wednesday when Mexico rallied to hand the Raiders their sixth straight loss in a 6-5 final. Twice the Raiders took the lead, but each time it proved to be short lived as the Tigers came right back to score.

Mexico, paced by a home run and four RBI from Bryan Ross, jumped to a 3-0 lead in the bottom of the third inning, only to watch Fulton charge in front 4-3 by scoring four times in the top of thie third. That lead didn't last long, however, as Mexico knotted the count in the bottom of the frame.

Fulton pushed a run across in the top of the fifth inning for a 5-4 lead, but once again the Tigers responded, this time with a pair of runs as part of an 11 hit attack that featured a double from Tanner Squires and solo RBI from Bruno Slivinski and Anthony Vega. Fulton's five hit attack featured doubles from Max Fobes and Chris Frontale with Frontale, Sean Stevens and Sean Amico delivering RBI for the 0-6 Raiders.

Fulton will look to hit the win column again this afternoon when the Raiders play host to Homer in a 4:30 p.m. start.

Going someplace cool?
Take

RaiderNet Daily

with you and get your picture taken for next year's Fultonian Yearbook feature

"Where in the world is The Raider?"

SPORTS

Home court advantage sparks Raider upset

Home court advantage has taken on a new meaning for the varsity boys tennis team. After defeating Mexico in the first match on their new courts, the Fulton team continued this streak by upsetting top ranked East Syracuse-Minoa 5-2 on Wednesday night. Like the Mexico match, Fulton continued to capitalize on opportunities and also persevered despite losing early in some of their matches.

Despite working hard on the court, senior captain Derek Bateman lost 6-1, 6-1 to ES-M's highly regarded Parker Stone at first singles.

Sophomore Eric Naoti also suffered a loss to ES-M's Daryll Johnson 6-0, 6-0 at second singles. However, the Fulton team swept the rest of the games in the match. At third singles captain Adam Wolford defeated ES-M's T.J. Burns, 6-1, 6-0 reeling off 12 straight points after losing the first game of the set. Foreign exchange student Richard Reeschke was also dominant in besting ES-M's Chris Cook 6-1, 6-0 at fourth singles.

After Nate Borden and Kyler Gardner, or the "Dog Pound" lost their first set 6-3 they started to groove by winning the second set in a tiebreaker 7-4 and the set 7-6. Finally in the last set the Dog Pound crushed the team from ES-M made up of Derek Pontillo and Tyler Underwood, winning 6-0. At second doubles Tyler Crandall and Brandon Sherman defeated ES-M's Josh Nubla and Andrew Brownell 6-0, 6-0. The "Pup Pound", made of Nate Deavers and Mitch Lalik, defeated Tom Marini and Kevin Rogers of ESM, 6-3, 6-

Kyle Gardner, back left, returns a shot while teammate Nate Borden, right, looks on during action from Wednesday's tennis match against ES-M. "The Dog Pound" battled to a three set victory to help pace Fulton's 5-2 upset victory. (Lindsay Navagh photo)

Another tough loss for Raider girls

For the want of a run. Again.

For the second time in as many days the Fulton softball team found itself on the wrong side of a one run encounter. This time the Raiders fell to second place Homer last night, in a 2-1 final. Homer bettered their record to 4-0, while Fulton added another tough loss, making their record 3-3.

The Lady Raiders fought out a tough game and both teams excelled defensively as the game remained scoreless until the bottom of the fifth inning. Homer scored the first run of the game when Gabby Leuty came up to bat with a runner on second and ripped one deep to center field. Everyone watched it go and expected an inside-the-park home run. Senior Meghan McCann, however, had other ideas. She had positioned herself deep in center field before the ball was hit and did not have far to run to grab the deep hit. McCann gunned the ball to cut-off shortstop freshman Ashley Cummins, who fired a throw to senior Jessica Palmitesso at the mound. Leuty had made a hard round off of third base. Palmitesso chased her back and threw the ball to senior third baseman Alicia Vann, who tagged Leuty for the third out of the inning. However, the runner on second scored before the out was made, so the score was now 1-0.

Palmitesso came up the next inning with the same luck, reaching first base on a single. She then stole second base during the next at-bat.

1.

The young Fulton team is truly proving themselves as contenders in tennis this spring. With their "never give up" attitude and the motivation from not wanting to lose on their home courts, the Fulton team is starting to groove. The Raiders are now 2-2 on the season and have another home match this Friday verses the Fowler Falcons. Come out and support the team as they go for their third straight win on the new home courts.

By Adam Wolford

Senior Heather Reed stepped up to the plate with one out and fought off several foul balls before hitting one to the second baseman. The second baseman eyed down Palmitesso, who was leading off of second base, and threw the ball to first to get Reed. As soon as the ball was thrown, Palmitesso darted for third base. The first baseman threw a rocket to third to tag Palmitesso out for the third out.

The Raiders tallied their only run in the top of the sixth inning. Junior Kala Peets came up to bat to start off the inning. After chipping off a few foul balls, Peets struck out to mark the first out. Vann came up to bat, and after two strikes were thrown, was hit in the shoulder blade by a pitch. Ashley Cummins came up to bat, looking to knock Vann around the bases. Vann stole second on a passed ball. During the same at bat, Vann stole third base, leaving Cummins with a 2-2 count, and one out. Cummins made contact with the ball, hitting it toward first base, tallying the R.B.I. as Vann crossed the plate.

This was the last time Fulton would score, as Homer came up in the bottom of the sixth inning, scoring off of a double and a single.

There were no upset players after the game for the Lady Raiders as they fought a tough battle. The team will be practicing over the break to prepare for their next home game against Fowler on Monday April 26 at 4:30.

By Alicia Vann

School of Thought compiled by Jessica Palmitesso, Erica Lamb, Morgan Mirabito
Are you going to the talent show, and if you are who are you looking forward to seeing?

"Yes, and the whole thing!"
Lindsay Navagh

"Yes, and I am looking forward to seeing Hunter Gordon."
Sean Stevens

"Yes, because I want to see Mr. Lacey."
Mike Edday

"No, because I have to get ready for my wedding, I wish I could go though!"
Ms. Worthly

Morning announcements for Thursday, April 15

The prom dress sale is here. Students may come with a pass from a teacher during study halls, advisory and lunch. No student will be admitted without a pass. Girls bring a tank top and shorts to try dresses on. Shoes, bags and jewelry are also available. Come get a beautiful dress at a bargain price. See Ms. Vicat or Crucitti with questions.

The long wait is almost over! Tonight the HOPE Club will sponsor Bodley's Got Talent in the GRB auditorium starting at 7 p.m. A minimum $3 donation gets you through the door for an unbelievable night of fun. Don't miss it.

Hey seniors: the Fulton Lion's Club scholarship forms are due in the guidance office this Thursday. There are two of them. There will also be several other local scholarships coming due soon, so head down to the guidance office for information.

Attention juniors! Prom tickets are currently on sale for $35 per person. See Katelyn Holbrook or Mr. Reale to purchase your tickets.

The next Photo Club meeting will be held today after school in room 118. Bring pictures! Take pictures at school events! Get published!

Meteorology and you
 by Carson Metcalf

Today: Cloudy with a few showers. High around 60.

Tonight: Mainly cloudy. Low in the mid-40s.

Tomorrow: Scattered showers. High in the upper-50s.

GRB sophomore Carson Metcalf is an aspiring Meteorologist and the creator of the Central New York Weather Center @ www.centralnewyorkweather.com ...Look for his weather forecasts on RaiderNet Daily.

