

Youth Court program seeks new members

The Oswego City County Youth Court Program has begun its recruitment for new Youth Court members. Training for the program is July 27-31 from 10 am-3 pm at Oswego City Hall. This is a wonderful opportunity for students to gain experience in public speaking and improve their writing skills.

Youth Court membership is open to all students in grades 7-12. Members are trained to become judges, defense attorneys, prosecuting attorneys, and court clerks. Youth Court hears real cases of youthful offenders who are referred by local law enforcement for minor offenses. Members conduct hearings related to these cases and decide on real punishments for these offenders.

For questions regarding the YOUTH COURT program, please feel free to contact the Bureau at 349-3451. Applications can be found at <http://www.co.oswego.ny.us/youth/YouthCourt.html> or in the Guidance Office at G. Ray Bodley High School.

Names, payment due for 2015 trip

The Senior Trip to Wildwood, New Jersey is quickly approaching, and with that in mind all members of the Class of 2015 planning to attend need to give their roommate selections to Class Advisor Mr. Lacey as soon as possible.

There will be four students in each room, and Mr. Lacey needs to know which students plan on being together. Anyone who does not contact Mr. Lacey will be assigned to a room.

Seniors going on the trip are also reminded that the final payment is due no later than May 15.

Batstone show set for Friday, May 1

He made national headlines as a contestant on the popular television series, The Voice, and now Fulton's own Josh Batstone will be headlining a concert at the Fulton War Memorial to benefit the G. Ray Bodley High School Girls Basketball team as well as Fulton Knee-high Basketball.

On Friday, May 1 Batstone will take to the stage at 8 pm. Tickets are currently on sale from any girls basketball player, Coach Lyons and Coach Leece as well as several area locations. Mimi's Dinner, B & T Sports, Off Broadway Dance Center and Cam's Pizzeria on Rte. 31 in Clay will all be handling tickets, with further information available from Will Call at 315-591-6002.

Presale tickets are $10 and the cost will be $12 at the door for this homecoming concert by one of Fulton's own.

Josh Batstone, a recent contestant on The Voice, will be performing at the Fulton War Memorial on Friday, May 1.

Two years pass since Boston Marathon bombing

By Breanna St. Onge

This month marks the two year anniversary of the infamous Boston Marathon Bombing that took place on April 15, 2013.

The race started off as it always had and all was well and going smoothly, that is up until a group of runners began to cross the finish line on Boylston Street. At 2:49 pm, two bombs that were planted prior to the start of the race exploded about 12 seconds and 210 yards apart. The bombs were later investigated and were determined to be pressure cooker bombs that caused severe damage to not only the surrounding buildings but a terrible amount of life threatening injuries to the nearby runners and spectators as well.

On April 18, 2013 the Federal Bureau of Investigation released surveillance pictures and videos of the alleged suspects and they were identified within hours. The suspects then went on to hijack an SUV after a firefight with an MBTA officer in an attempt to escape. The officer was then pronounced dead on the scene. The next day a manhunt for the suspects was issued and residents of the 20 block area of Watertown, Mass. were ordered to stay inside and report any suspicious activities to authorities right away. City transportation, businesses, and institutions were all shut down in an attempt to aid in the search for the men responsible for the deaths of three runners, who also killed an officer, and injured over 264 people.

Around 7 that evening, one of the men was located using a thermal imaging camera hiding in a boat. He was then shot, arrested and taken to the hospital for treatment and questioning. He later died His brother Dzhokhar Tsarnaev, the other suspect, had then stated that he was merely a follower in the bombing.

Tsarnaev was recently found guilty for his part in the crime with sentencing currently underway. He could well receive the death penalty for his part in the bombing, although there are those, including the family of one of the victims, who are instead calling for life imprisonment.

Monday's race featured a touching moment when bombing victim Rebekah Gregory crossed the finish line after running the final 3.2 miles. Despite having a leg amputated due to the injuries she suffered, she ran with her trainer, also an amputee, and has vowed to run the entire 26.2 mile course next year. As she noted in an open letter to Tsarnaev, “You can't handle the fact that what you tried to destroy, you only made stronger.”

BLAST from the PAST!Looking back on GRB happenings of yesteryearApril 2010 (from the pages of RaiderNet Daily)*

Students and staff alike were happily preparing for spring break in mid-April. Among their plans were playing x-box, doing outdoor yard work and playing softball. One lucky student was even planning on a trip to Yankee Stadium to see the Yankees.

The chorus here at G. Ray Bodley was also finalizing their plans for their three-day trip to Pittsburgh. The plans on their trip included museums, murder mystery dinner, duck tours, trips to the zoo, visits to the National Aviary for a mining experience, and to top it all off a performance at the Heartland Health Care Center.

Bodley's Got Talent also brought many amazing performances to the school with a variety of different performances. Overall winner Luke Roberts performed an original piano composition, "Maddie's Melody," with singer/guitarist Hunter Gorton right behind him placing second, and drummer D.J. Ingham placing third. Winners of one of the judge's choice awards was a group featuring Dylan Holden, Casey Holden, Joe Medico, and Clare Bawarski. However another group that won the judge's choice award were guitarists Paul Clark and Brian Wilson, receiving the award from former principal Mr. Buchanan.

April 2005 (from the pages of The Raider)

Sadly spring break 2005 was just coming to an end, however, a group of eleven travelled overseas during their spring break to England and Ireland. The group visited the city of London, they also visited the Globe Theatre as well as Shakespeare's home in Stratford, and they visited St. Paul's Cathedral, Stonehenge, Trinity college in Dublin, Anne Hathaway's house, Oxford University, Mucross House, and Bunratty Castles. The students and adults also stayed in many different beautiful hotels and experienced several different delicious dishes.

Senior day was in the works, but with the past senior class of 2004 misbehaving on their overnight senior trip there would no longer be any overnight senior trips for senior classes. However this senior class was given the chance to have their own senior day, just for the seniors on the morning of the senior dinner dance. The seniors were excused at 11:30 to make hair appointments, manicures, and picking up suits easier and so that they would not have to miss out on crucial class time. Activities on June 10, the day of the dinner dance, included breakfast, a senior slide show, yearbook signing, and even sports and games. Other activities included a Frisbee tournament, a sidewalk art competition, and a simple softball or volleyball competition. The options were endless. As Vice-principal Mrs. Winkler said, "just show up, eat, play games, hang out with friends, and then go and get ready for the dance!"

The school year is closing in on its final weeks, so if you find yourself thirsty for knowledge and wish to receive all the education you can get yet are also looking for fun in that same moment then make your way to a Regal Cinema Theater and see Monkey Kingdom. This is indeed a documentary film that was recently released on April 17 showing the life cycle of a monkey Maya and son Kip who live in Southern Asia. Throughout the documentary you experience the journey Maya and her group must take in hopes of finding a safe place to spend the remainder of their lives. This film is rated G and friendly to all viewers.

If, however, you are not one who favors documentaries and enjoys a good thriller then I suggest you see the new movie

Unfriended which was also released on April 17. This is a movie that teens can relate due to the amount of social media used in the world daily and to an extent it does give an outline of the consequences that may occur. In the film a group of friends find themselves in a horrifying situation when an online account begins to send them threatening messages on the anniversary of their friend's suicide. This film is rated R and viewers should take that into consideration before choosing to see it.

Tonight will begin the first of many showings of the new movie

The Age of Adaline. Character Adaline Bowman is a fascinating woman not many people seem to know much about. She is constantly moving and cautious as to not stay in the same place for too long, and with good reason.

The plot revolves around the idea that Adaline discovered at 29 years old that she had begun to no longer age and has remained in this state for eight decades. In the back of her mind this has been the reason why she had not settled down or stayed in one location for an extended amount of time in fear that some may begin to discover her secret.

That all changes when she meets Ellis Jones, who sparks something in Adaline that makes her feel as if she never needs to leave that town again and that all is well. But when Ellis's parents leave them, threatening to expose her secret to the world, Adaline is now faced with a heart wrenching decision; does she run again or does she stay with Ellis, who had just only begun to open up a whole new world for her? This film is rated PG-13 and parents should be cautious about who sees it.
