

Golf, cross-country post impressive victories

Weather got the better of the Raider golfers last Wednesday, but there was no stopping Fulton on Friday in a 20 stroke win over Christian Brothers Academy. The two teams were scheduled to square off on September 30 until outdoor conditions stepped in. Two days later the Raiders were more than up to the task as they beat the Brothers 213-233 to snap an 0-2-1 stretch that had seen them go more than two weeks without a win.

Fulton notched three of the top four scores and five of the top seven as Hunter Hubel led the way with a medalist round of 39. Matt Kitts and Cameron Clark fired dual 43s while Brian Trombly and Bayley Raponi each carded a 44 toward the winning total. With the victory Fulton improved to 7-4-1 overall and 4-4-1 in league play including a 4-1 home course mark under first year varsity coach Dan Mainville.

The team came roaring out of the gates with six wins and a tie in the first nine matches including a 214-214 standoff against Chittenango. Oswego proved to be too much for the Raiders and Cortland scored an 18 stroke win before Fulton returned the favor with the big win over CBA.

Fulton's other forgotten sons, the boys cross country team, snared a rare win over Jamesville-Dewitt last Wednesday by easing past the Red Rams 29-30. A sweep of the top three places paved the way for the 2-1 Raiders as Ken Deloff led all runners with a time of 17:47 followed by Isaac Crandall (18:11) and Dan Phillips (18:41). The Rams responded with the fourth through tenth runners on the day, but it was not enough to carry them to victory.

The boys will be back in action on Wednesday when they play host to Central Square before travelling to East Syracuse-Minoa on Oct. 14 for the final dual meet of the season.

Massive week ahead for Red Raider soccer

They put their cleats on one shoe at a time just like every other side that the Red Raiders line up against. But for some reason when it comes to OHSL Soccer, Jamesville-Dewitt has had Fulton's number over the past few seasons.

All of that may change this Thursday when Coach George Beckwith's Red Raider girls meet the #2 state ranked Red Rams with first place on the line in a 6 pm start in Fulton. The same holds true for Coach Nate Murray and his #14 state ranked boys side when they invade J-D for a 4:30 pm match-up that could hold major significance in both the league and sectional pictures.

The Red Ram boys are unbeaten in their last eight matches against Fulton, winning six times and drawing twice. Making their run even more impressive is the fact that the Raiders haven't dented the J-D net in those eight contests, while the Rams have scored 19 times including a 6-0 win in 2012 and a 5-0 thumping in 2011. Not since the 2009 Red Raiders claimed a high scoring 4-3 win has a Fulton booter known the joy of finding the back of the Red Ram goal. It won't come easy this time either as J-D reeled off eight straight wins including a string of seven shutouts in eight games where they outgunned the opposition 30-1 prior to falling 1-0 against Fowler on Monday.

Since losing to AA foes Baldwinsville and Liverpool in the opening days of the season, the Rams have been nearly impenetrable on defense, allowing just 56 shots in their first 11 games while DJ Newman has kept the crease cleared while turning back 44 tries.

Jordan VanStry leads the way with 12 goals and three assists while Jake Socia has contributed nine points (5-4-9) to go with six assists from Dean Kousmanidis and Joe Fazio's five point effort (3-2-5).

"I know that they are difficult to score on, they control the midfield well and they have an attacker that scores like Auzzie (Fulton

"We played our best game of the season against Chittenango Friday, We need to have the same effort against Marcellus in order to carry that momentum forward into the J-D game. leading scorer Austin Beckwith)," Coach Murray stated. "We need to make sure that we don't give up any goals and then see what happens."

"In order for us to win we must not give up a goal first!" he went on to say. "If we don't allow them to score we can't lose." Murray has seen his side battle to a pair of scoreless draws against the Rams in 2012 and 2013, so he knows that keeping J-D at bay is definitely possible. But as if taking on the perennial powerhouse Rams wasn't enough of a challenge, the Raiders will also have to deal with a difference in the playing surface and maybe even the weatherman. "Playing at their place is always a challenge as they are one of four places that we travel to that are still on grass," he stated. "It is really difficult to change the surface that we play on. We will have to adjust to those conditions and make something happen. It is also supposed to rain that morning to make things even more challenging."

The coach will be looking for continued offensive support from Beckwith (12-2-14) and Spencer Vono (6-6-12) along with Austin Wilde (2-7-9) and Josh Compson (3 goals). Senior goaltender Josh Hudson will be out to build on the form that has seen him turn aside 72 shots while recording eight shutouts on a team that has outscored the opposition 34-9 to become the first Fulton

Opinion

Leave the diagnosis to the professionals

By Kassidy Bowering

It is never acceptable to accuse someone of being depressed and telling them they need help.

Never.

This is something I thought everyone knew and was aware of. However this is an issue that has gotten personal over the past week. I am new here so I don't have friends or a vast group of kids that I feel comfortable talking to. That does not mean that I am depressed, or that I need to talk to my doctor about my feelings like what was suggested to me by an adult, completely out of line, here at G. Ray Bodley.

If you see someone alone that doesn't mean they are depressed. If someone seems a little more down than usual that does not mean they are depressed. If a person is not amused by a joke it is not okay to assume they are starting to get depressed. All of these examples sound tacky, yet all of them have actually occurred.

Depression is a serious mood disorder that causes a persistent feeling of sadness and loss of interest. Anyone with access to google or a health class knows that. Just because someone knows what depression is, or even if they know the symptoms, they do not get to try to diagnose and give instructions of how to “fix” it. You cannot just fix mood disorders. Depression affects how you feel, think, and behave.

There is no simple off and on switch, and it's no joking or light matter. If I was diagnosed with depression, not only would it be a personal matter, but having some random person bring it up and shove it in my face doesn't seem like a moral way of handling the situation. Judging someone based on a five minute talk or just a random stare is so beyond rude, it's uncivil, and I can not believe the lack of respect for others I have encountered.

Raider girls seek break-through victory

side to claim double digit victories in four seasons.

As for the long scoring drought against J-D, Murray believes that the time is ripe for that streak to end. "Since I started in 2012 we have tied twice and lost twice and we have not scored against them in that time," he commented. "So I think we may be due for a goal or two!"

"We are either better than them or not and there is only one way to find out and that's between the lines on Thursday," he concluded. "Whichever team makes the plays will be the winner, and hopefully my guys will be ready to make the plays."

Girls face J-D juggernaut

The 12-0 Jamesville-Dewitt girls have been equally impressive over the years, emerging as a thorn in Coach Beckwith's side while besting the Raiders 14 times in a row including dual 5-0 victories last season. During that stretch the statistics have not been kind to Fulton with J-D hammering in 68 goals while allowing just four. If Fulton can break through on their own home turf on Thursday it will mark the first time since the Red Raiders claimed three wins in a row in 2007 and 2008 that they have been able to upend the Rams. The 2008 Raider ladies did it twice in an 11 day span in 2008 when they won 5-4 and 3-1, but since that time it has been all J-D and then some, with the Rams claiming a phenomenal 72 league wins in a row since 2009 while amassing an overall record of 99-10-5.

"They can score a bunch of goals at any time. Their forwards are excellent and their midfield unit is the best in Section III," Beckwith said of the high flying Red Rams. "We need to be able to limit their opportunities and take advantage of the ones we are given."

Indeed one need only look at the scoring ledger to see that J-D can attack from every angle as nine different girls have found the back of the opposing goal, led by Alex Catanzarite's 14 goals and eight assists for a team leading 22 points. Allie Ballotin (7-2-9) and Alex Fontana (7-3-10) are also regular visitors at the opposing net, along with Alex Epifani (5-6-11), Paige Sherling (6-4-10) and Sophia Dimkopoulos (5-5-10). (statistics do not include Tuesday's game against Mexico)

"We need to have a good showing for the team to understand that we can run with them..if we come out flat, it will be a more difficult post-season," he went on to say, noting that a strong start is essential as, "the longer we keep the game tight, the more we will believe in our ability to play the game. They may begin to feel some pressure if they do not score early."

"Last year we played poorly here and lost 5-0, usually we play them well home and terrible away. Regardless of the outcome, we hope to avoid them in the post season until the semi's or finals."

While the coach noted that, "Every player is key for this game, from front to back. It will take a complete team effort to be successful against them," the Raiders will be hoping for continued success from their young scoring aces in sophomores Jordan Coulon and Hailey Carroll. Coulon netted her eighth and ninth goals of the season in a big 2-1 win at state-ranked Chittenango on Friday and shares the team lead for assists (five) with Carroll (8-5-13) and junior Sydney Gilmore (5-5-10). Eighth grader Madison Coulon has also made a positive impact with a goal and four assists, while senior keeper Emily Kerfien will need to be at her best against a J-D team that scored 55 times in the first 11 games including a 9-1 win over Skaneateles and 7-0 shutouts against Oswego and Central Square.

But before the girls can focus their complete attention on the Red Rams, they must take on a 7-1-3 Marcellus side whose only loss came on Friday at the hands of J-D in a 2-0 final. The Raiders charge into tonight's 6 pm home start looking to hand the perennial powerhouse Mustangs their second straight loss. "We played our best game of the season against Chittenango Friday, We need to have the same effort against Marcellus in order to carry that momentum forward into the J-D game. If we look beyond Marcellus to J-D and play poorly, we will undo any positives that we gained from the Chittenango game."

The Red Raider boys, fresh off a 5-0 Friday night win against Chittenango, will be keeping their eyes on the scoreboard this week as J-D faced Fowler last night and meet Mexico tonight as part of a marathon stretch of five games in eight days.
